

Nālandā
UNIVERSITY

An Avant-Garde International University under the aegis of Ministry of External Affairs, GoI.

(Established by an Act of Parliament of India)

School of Historical Studies

Inspired by the glorious scholastic tradition of ancient Nalanda, the School of Historical Studies is engaged in a systematic and rigorous enquiry into some of the fundamental issues that concern the field of historical studies. The School rests on a multi-disciplinary approach, aimed at opening new frontiers of knowledge and experience in Asian contexts and beyond. Faculty members carry a multi-disciplinary background and research profile in pre-modern and modern history of India and Asia, social, cultural and religious history, art history, international relations, marine history, economic history, Buddhism and philosophy, archaeology and anthropology thus, uniquely poised to mentor students in multiple fields of research and teaching from a comparative, as well as, cross-disciplinary approach.
